

2019 National Sheriffs' Association Annual Conference & Exhibition

Louisville, KY • June 15-19, 2018

#SHERIFFS2019

The NSA Annual Conference and Exhibition is one of the largest of its kind and displays products and equipment relevant to every facet of police work, jails, prisoner transport, and courtroom security.

EXHIBITION HALL

Exhibitors contribute in large measure to the overall success of the conference.

Last year, there were almost 700 vendors from a wide array of companies offering goods and services targeted to law enforcement.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Sheriffs, undersheriffs, chief deputies, deputies, investigators, police chiefs, police officers, school resource officers, correctional officers, court security personnel, public information officers, law enforcement executives, and other stakeholders in the law enforcement field.

IS IT WORTH THE INVESTMENT?

The NSA Annual Conference and Exhibition brings together law enforcement personnel, stakeholders, vendors, and educators under one roof and gives attendees the chance to network, learn, and see what's new in the field.

Last year, over 3,000 people attended our conference in New Orleans. Don't miss out - register today!

SEMINARS

There are also over 60 seminars and workshops covering all aspects of the duties and responsibilities for sheriffs' offices, including, but not limited to law enforcement, jail operations, service of process, transportation of prisoners, and court & judicial security. There are also special training events for Advanced Roadside Impaired Driving Enforcement, Traffic Incident Management, Court Security, and a Homeland Security Leadership Academy.
