Seminar: *FBI Next Generation Identification System

Description: Beginning in July 1999, the CJIS Division operated and maintained the IAFIS, the world's largest person-centric database. The IAFIS provided automated tenprint and latent fingerprint searches, electronic image storage, electronic exchanges of fingerprints and responses, as well as text-based searches based on descriptive information. Because of growing threats, new identification capabilities were necessary. Advancements in technology allowed further development of biometric identification services. The CJIS Division, with guidance from the user community, developed the NGI System to meet the evolving business needs of its IAFIS customers. Building on the foundation of the IAFIS, the NGI brought the FBI's biometric identification services and criminal history information to the next level. The NGI system improved the efficiency and accuracy of biometric services to address evolving local, state, tribal, federal, national, and international criminal justice requirements. New capabilities include a national Rap Back service; the Interstate Photo System; text-based searches for images of scars, marks, and tattoos; fingerprint verification services; more complete and accurate identity records; and enhancements to the biometric identification repository. In September 2014, the CJIS Division launched the final phase of NGI services, thus replacing the remaining IAFIS functionality.

Seminar : The Post Critical Incident Seminar: "What you can do when things aren't getting better."

Description: A critical incident is any event that results in an overwhelming sense of vulnerability and/or loss of control. These events include line of duty shootings, getting shot or seriously hurt on the job, high speed pursuits that end in tragedy, events that bring prolonged and critical media attention, and personal tragedies to name a few. Despite the best support immediately following a critical incident, there can be long lasting effects for some officers. What can be done to help them? Come hear a panel discussion about Post Critical Incident Seminars. What they are and how they can make a difference for your officers. Created by the FBI specifically for law enforcement, the PCIS offers officers a safe and effective method for post-incident training in critical incident stress. Offered only to officers who have been through highly traumatic events, the PCIS can mean the difference between staying on the job or leaving the law enforcement profession due to the unresolved and unexamined effects of critical incident stress.

Advanced Roadside Impaired Driving Enforcement (ARIDE) Program – FREE 2 Day Sign-up Event,

Not included with Expo registration - Must sign up in advance, see registration form

Sponsored by

Description: ARIDE is intended to bridge the gap between the Standardized Field Sobriety Testing (SFST) and the Drug Evaluation and Classification (DEC/DRE) programs by providing officers with general knowledge related to drug impairment and by promoting the use of DREs in states that have the DEC program. The ARIDE program stresses the importance of the signs and symptoms of the seven drug categories. This course will train law enforcement officers to observe, identify, and articulate the signs of impairment related to drugs, alcohol, or a combination of both, in order to reduce the number of impaired driving incidents as well as crashes which result in serious injuries and fatalities. This course will educate other criminal justice professionals (prosecutors, toxicologists, judges, etc.) to understand the signs of impairment related to drugs, alcohol, or a combination of both, to enable them to effectively work with law enforcement in order to reduce the number of impaired driving incidents as well as crashes which result in serious injuries and fatalities. All participants must be SFST proficient, must pass SFST proficiency demonstration at time of entry into class, and complete the ARIDE registration form.
